Phillips had the usual examination before the magistrates, and was twice tried before the Circuit Court of Henrico (Judge Joseph Christian), and, baving been convicted, was, on Friday, July 10, 1868, called up to say why sentence should not be pronounced. He an-swered: "Nothing, sir; no more than that I am innocent, before Almighty God and man."

Then Judge Christian, whose court had sat during this trial in the hall of the House of Delegates, pronounced sentence of death, and November 6th was fixed as the day of execution. Phillips assumed an air of jaunty gayety on his way back to prison.

Throughout both trials his conduct had been distinguished by the utmost unconcern and levity.

He appealed to the Supreme Court, United States Judge Underwood on a he was besought to commute the sentence of the prisoner, but refused, and July 22, 1870, in Henrico county jail-

On the 28th of February, 1867, Mr. George F. Drinker, of Henrico county. walking through the woods on his farm, found the dead body of a woman lying almost immediately in his path. There was a bullet-wound in the right side of her head, the impress of fingers was upon her throat, one of her shoulface, and other parts of her body were other marks of violence. She lay face downward, and under one of her breasts there was seen what appeared to be a pool of blood and water. She appeared to have been not more than twenty and most complete stock of White Goods to corpse, and had heard of no one missing in the neighborhood. Under the circumstances he did what was best. He at once notified the nearest oversees of the poor, and preparations were made to give the poor woman burial.

A PAUPER'S BURIAL. The corpse was therefore placed in cart and carried to the residence of Mr. George Turner, where it was viewed on the second day after its discovery by jury of inquest summoned by order of Justice George D. Pleasants. In the mean time inquiries had been made throughout the county and in the city of Richmond, but without eliciting any identification of the decomposing re mains. The jury therefore contented themselves with the simple verdict of "Death by violence at the hands of some person or persons unknown."

But the excitement caused by Mr. Drinker's discovery did not so quickly subside. The newspapers spread the intelligence far and wide, detectives were active everywhere, the affair was talked about, and probable and improbable surmises were made as to who the victim was and how she met her bloody death.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

The result was seen in several cases of mistaken identity.

The two most remarkable instance of this mistaken identification occurred Grimes and a Miss Slaughter. In the first it was confidently believed that the whole mysterious problem had been solved, and some of the Richmond pasolved, and some of the Richmond pa-pers ventured to congratulate the com-munity on the final detection of the criminal. The mether of Jennie Ed-wards declared her daughter to be miss-ing, and she and others found so many proofs in the description of person and apparel that the body, which had in the mean time been buried, was disinterred on the 11th of March and brought to the city, where it was deposited at the city jail. There the jai er and two negro women in his service positively declared that it was the body of Jennie clared that it was the body of Jennie Edwards, and certain scars on the de-ceased seemed surely to establish the identification. Certain parties who had disappeared with Jennie Edwards were even arrested in Norfolk; but at length some of the Richmond detectives visited that city and found Jennie alive and robust. In like manner detectives found Miss Slaughter living quietly at her husband wrote the following letter to her home in New Kent county.

Other cases proved as delusive of the hopes of the friends of law and justice.

A faithful magistrate and a skilful detective had taken the case in hand, and the result was that after nearly thr The dead body of the woman, who menths the people of Richmond and Henrico were startled by the appounce ment that one James Jeter Phillips had keen arrested as the murderer, and that the battered corpse in Drinker's woods was the wife whom he had sworn to love, protect, and cherish. It was indeed a startling announce ment, for until the moment that the hand of Detective Knox was placed upon the culprit's shoulder the nearest and dearest friends of Jeter Phillips believed him a single man.

EVIDENCE OF HIS GUILT. Other and more conclusive evidence of his guilt was brought out on the preliminary examination, which took place at the county court-house, Phillips having in the mean time been lodged in jail. It was then proved that the parties were married in July, 1865; that Phillips soon left the Pitts residence and came to the neighborhood of Rich mond; that suspicion was excited by his frequent absences and by his failure to introduce his wife to his family; that he finally brought her from Essex to Richmond on the 10th of reuruary, 1867, promising to take her to his fa-ther's house; that they were seen to-gether at the Virginia House, in this city, on Sunday, February 17th; that they were seen on the evening of that day on Franklin street, and here the wife was lost. Her husband failed to account for her, and there is no evidence that from that day to this that she dence that from that day to this that she was seen by the eye of mortal man save that of her husband. The identity of the murdered woman with Mary Emily Phillips was fully established by the evidence of her sisters and others. The result was that Phillips was fully committed for trial.

SENT ON. It is unnecessary to follow the case through all its tortuous windings in the courts of law. By the examining court ous mass of testimony was elicited, given to the jury. On the nineteenth day the juty was discharged, having failed to agree. Ten were for conviction and two for acquittal. He was then tried at a special term of the court by a jury summoned from Albemarle and Alexandria, it being impossible to procure one in Richmond. This time con-viction was assured, and Judge Christian pronounced upon the prisoner the sen ence of death.

Game-Only Five Innings. The weather was threatening again yesterday and at times showery, but despite this there was a good crowd, num bering about 1,100 persons, at Virginia Park to witness the second game be-tween the Virginias and the Norfolks. When play begun at 5 o'clock the visi tors went to the field. They put Hughes in the box, with Crawley to hold him, while Kimber and Tate filled similar positions for the home club. Greenwrote you all about my situation; that hit by Hughes, thus getting his first; we were housekeeping—that is, Em. made second on a bad throw by wrote to ma and told about having Crawley to second; stole third, and came home on a passed ball. From blanked in each successive inning, and the score at the end of the fifth inning, when the game was called on accou of rain, stood one to nothing in favor of the Virginias. Except the battery errors recorded in the score the visitors played a perfect game. The home team, too, did very good playing, but neither were able to do any hitting. Tate did fine work behind the bet. He fell and caught a foul ball that bounded only a few inches from the ground, for which he was loudly applauded. The contest throughout was very interest-tng. The appended score tells the

The Virginias were scheduled to play the Jersey City Club to-morrow, Tuesday, and Wednesday, but owing to the disbandment of the latter club these games are "off," and there will be no others here until Friday, when the Lancaster's, who stand fourth in the League, will open an engagement of three games.

The Board of Directors of the Eastern League will meet in Philadelphia Monday, when it is probable that two clubs will be admitted to the League to fill the positions made vacant by the disbandment of the Atlantic City and Jersey City clubs. It is likely that Hartford and Albany will be admitted.

Colonel Charles J. Anderson, of the First regiment, and Colonel Jo. Lane Stern, Assistant Inspector-General of the State troops, will go on some time next week and will be the guests of the Howitzers. Corporals Starke and Pulliam and Privates Camp, Gwathmey, Harvey, Ross, H. M. Starke, and J. A. Wolff were members of the section that won the prize at the last State Fair, making over 99 per cent, out of a possible 100. The United States officers who were the judges on that occasion said that it was the best drilling by artillery they had ever seen.

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Union Meeting of Thomas Brennau and No. 80 Branches To-Day-Help for Ireland. The Richmond representatives of the tional League have received the following circular from Mr. Patrick Egan, of Lincoln, Neb., president of the League. It reads:
In view of the momentous events of the past few days we deem it a duty to address you for the purpose of point-ing out the urgency that exists for at once calling your Branch together and taking steps to push the collections for the parliamentary fund. Mr. Parnell, with his band of thirty-nine followers (and not even all of these reliable), has succeeded in defeating and driving from power the strongest government that ever ruled in England, banishing from Ireland in disgrace Earl Spencer and his brutal and loathsome minions, and causing such an awakening in public opinion at home and abroad on the subject of English misrule in Ireland that the attainment of self-government is now brought almost within our grasp.

The new Ministry in England, representing a minority in the House of Commons, can only govern on sufferance during the balance of the sessions, and a general election in September or October is now assured.

With a moderate amount of the "sinews of war" at his command, Mr.

news of war" at his command, Mr.
Parnell can secure at the general election the return of eighty reliable followers, and with that number and the balance of power in the hands of an honest Irish National party, the next two or three years will, we believe, bring forth results which few of us hoped to see accomplished in our time.
We are at present in communication with Mr. Parnell on the subject of fixing a time for our annual convention.

before you at an early date. Meantime we urgently appeal to you to do all that lies in your power to push on the organization, and particularly to aid in raising for the parliamentary fund such a sum as will enable Mr. Parnell to take advantage of the all-important opportunity now so near at hand.

Following out the idea suggested, there will be held this afternoon at Cathedral Hall a union meeting of Thomas Brennan and No. 80 Branches of the Irish National League. A full attendance is expected, as this promises to be a meeting full of interest.

Executive Clemency.

The Governor yesterday pardoned William Hill (colored), convicted in the County Court of Surry, March, 1885, of bigamy and sentenced to the penitentiary for four years, and Louis Wright (colored), sent to the penitentiary from Elizabeth City in 1883 to serve four years for grand larceny. The sentence of Mack White (colored), consisted November, 1884, in the County victed November, 1884, in the County Court of Rappahannock of burglary and larceny, was commuted to twelve months in the county jail. The court sentenced him to five years in the penitentiary. The Governor also removed the political disabilities of Wyatt Campbell, convicted in 1870 in the County Court of Bedford of larceny and sentenced to four years in the peni-tentiary; George Hundley, convicted in 1875 in the County Court of Henrico of house-breaking and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary; and Alexander Johnson, convicted in the Hustings Court of Richmond in 1868 and sent to the penitentiary for three years for felonious assault.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock Rev. James Taylor Dickinson will be solemnly set apart to the work of the Christian ministry at the Grace-Street Baptist church, of this city. Mr. Dickinson is the grandson of the late Rev. James B. Taylor, D. D., and the son of Rev. A. E. Dickinson, D. D. After some years at Richmond College he entered the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and graduated there at the late commencement. All the Baptist pasters of the city are to take part in the services this afternoon, and the occasion will doubtless be one of much interest.
